

ABSTRACT

A system for selecting a network-connected image forming apparatus wherein there are provided a plurality of network-connected image forming apparatuses and job registration means which distributes and registers a job in an image forming apparatus via a network, wherein the job registration means registers a specific mode job in an image forming apparatus already storing another specific mode job.